

Interdisciplinary Summer School on Religious Freedom

Institute of Justice, Venue: Warsaw (Poland), July 19-24, 2020

The aim of the Interdisciplinary Summer School on Religious Freedom which will take place on July 19-24, 2020 in Warsaw is to form the foundations of knowledge necessary for academic commitment to defend religious freedom and to protect religious minorities against persecution. The Summer School is organized by the Institute of Justice in Warsaw, Poland.

Interdisciplinary lectures and workshops will be conducted by academics from the

- University of Leuven (Belgium),
- University of Navarra (Spain),
- University of Oxford (United Kingdom),
- University of Warsaw (Poland).

On the last day of the School a Forum of NGOs working on the issues related to religious freedom and religious persecution will take place. Apart from lectures and workshops offered by our experts, conference participants (students, doctoral students, recent graduates and young scientists) will give short presentations.

To register please fill out the form and send the abstract of your presentation of up to 200 words by March 14, 2020 here:

<https://system.erecruiter.pl/FormTemplates/RecruitmentForm.aspx?WebID=0ff40ac3d9b34d39a83f077d2b5d9d9c>

You will be notified about the results via email by March 21, 2020.

The organizers provide accommodation, meals and materials for participants, but do not cover travel costs.

Contact us: religiousfreedomiws@gmail.com.